A LONG TIME AGO WE gave up making resolutions at the start of a new year.

But there are some people who still take this resolution bit seriously and try very hard to carry them out during the year.

Of course, there are others who go through the motions on a sort of fun basis as part of the general celebration on New Year's Eve. In most cases, however, that type of resolution is pretty far out and no one takes them seriously.

We recall sort of dimly, however, that there was a time during our growing-up period (too many years ago to specify) that some of us youngsters used to list our resolutions on paper on New Year's Eve.

The lists would be "officially" attested and then read aloud.

We have a sneaking hunch that the whole idea was a gimmick instituted by our mother as a means to improve our deportment which, as we have been reminded at various family reminiscing sessions over the years, always seemed to be in need of improvement.

Be that as it may, we have no recollections as to how long, for example, "Resolved-I will not lose my temper", really lasted.

Probably just through New Year's Day.

ANYWAY WHAT WE started to tell you was that we have not made any resolutions this year nor have we for quite some time.

But that does not mean that we will not try to do better.

And it doesn't take a New Year's Eve celebration to remind us that there is plenty of room for improvement.

We have known that for a long time.

We just don't want to be pinned down by specific resolutions.

Then there is something else to consider.

If we don't make any resolutions, we won't break 'em.

ANOTHER PASTIME that is popular at this time of year is the making of predictions as to what is to take place during the next 12 months.

Economists and politicians have a field day with their forecasts.

Some will project that there will be an upswing in the national economic picture while others have nothing but gloom to predict.

Then there will be others who will hedge a bit and present something of each, e.g., an upswing is anticipated for the first six months and a leveling off after that.

Or vice versa.

Now don't get us wrong.

We recognize that there is a need for economists and we have absolutely nothing against the breed. They have a job to do.

Some of our best friends are economists of either professional, semi-pro or amateur status.

Our problem is, of course, that we generally have no idea what the new year will bring forth so we are at a loss to make any sort of a prediction.

So our predictions in the past have been almost as unsuccessful as our resolutions.

So we have given up predicting just as we have quit resolving.

We just let the chips fall where they may, and hope we can survive.

Now we just cross our fingers at midnight on New Year's Eve while doing some hoping and praying.

SOME THINGS, OF course, ARE predictable.

But they have to be pretty visible before we will go out on the limb for 'em.

DIAL TWIRLERS--It was vault opening day on Monday of this week when The Hibernia Bank opened its newest branch in Campbell to the public. Located in the Kirkwood Plaza Shopping Center (1550 W. Campbell Ave.), the bank on Monday, Jan. 4, the first business day of the new year, heralded the start of a week-long open house celebration.

TREASURE CHEST--One of the most popular features at the opening of The Hibernia Bank this week in the Kirkwood Plaza Shopping Center was the treasure chest filled with 112 merchandise gifts, one for every year of Hibernia's history. Everyone had a chance at opening the chest with the keys that had been distributed by mail. Additional keys were available in the lobby while they lasted. In the above photo, one person tries his key while others wait their turn.

City gets park plan

Completed plans for the development of Rincon Park are scheduled to be presented for City Council approval at the Council meeting next Monday, Jan. 11.

The plans, developed by Arutunian, Johnson Associates, landscape architects, have had the prior approval of the Parks and Recreation Commission and the park commissioners plan to be on hand Monday to discuss the project with the City Council.

The architects will also be present and, in addition, have submitted drawings and other informational material relating to the master plan for Rincon Park, including the various phases of development.

The Council on Monday will also be asked to approve an agreement that will lead to the installation of arm signals at the railroad crossing at Pollard and Westwood.

"ROBERTS" GETS THE NOD

Commission resolves big hang-up on rules

By a unanimous vote on Monday night, the Planning Commission reaffirmed that it operates under Roberts Rules of Order, as was originally specified by resolution on Jan. 8, 1953 when the Commission was formed.

The "reaffirmation" came at midnight just before adjournment and resulted from questions that had been raised over the minutes of the previous meeting when Merrill Grim was reelected chairman by a split vote of the commissioners.

Commissioners Norm Paul, Don Hebard and Dale Scott had indicated dissatisfaction with the minutes of the meeting that had been submitted and action on them had been deferred until after the other items on the agenda had been completed.

Paul questioned the actions by Chairman Grim in the ruling on motions relative to the election.

Grim, in the previous meeting, in overruling Paul's motion to adjourn had maintained that the Commission was not operating under Roberts Rules of Order.

Paul wanted to know just what rules then were being used and maintained that the election was not in order under Roberts Rules.

He also pointed out that the Commission rules call for election of officers at the first meeting of the year and the election had taken place at the last meeting of the year.

Hebard also pointed out that he had nominated Scott for chairman and Grim had ruled that the nomination was a motion and failed because it did not get a second. Nominations, Hebard explained (which was affirmed by City Attorney Joe Bonacina) did not need a second.

Ironically a similar hassle over rules and rulings took place last August but the shoe was on the other foot.

Vice-Chairman Scott was presiding.

That time when the acting chairman made a ruling on a motion which was not to the liking of Commissioners Healey and Klein, the two of them staged an unprecedented walk-out from the meeting, forcing the Commission to halt proceedings because of the lack of a quorum.

Only six commissioners were present at the meeting Monday (Ed Pack, who had voted with Jack Healey and Frank Klein at the controversial election meeting, was absent.)

However, a stalemate was averted when Commissioner Scott, who served as vice-chairman last year, stated that he did not want his name resubmitted for chairman.

Scott then moved the reaffirmation of Roberts Rules of Order which was passed unanimously.

A motion then to approve the minutes of the last meeting and thus verifying the election was approved.

The motion to adjourn then was passed unanimously.

Objections by residents defer action on proposed apartments

Vigorous objections from residents of a tract of single family homes within the city limits of San Jose to a proposed 142-unit apartment complex to be located across the line from them in Campbell caused the Planning Commission on Monday night to defer action on the complex for two weeks.

The motion to continue the hearing on the matter came after more than two hours of discussion in which the San Jose residents, mostly from Mona Way and Kendra Way, emphasized they felt that the area was now saturated with multiples and that a commercial development would be better use for the property.

Yolles Development Co. of San Mateo had requested approval under P-D (planned development) zoning for the 142-unit complex consisting of nine buildings and a 20,000 square foot retail building on the north side of W. Hamilton between Darryl and Marathon Drives.

The residents also objected to having the carports, as indicated on the plan, located directly on the property line which separates the single-family homes from the complex. They felt that the carports should be set back and a high fence, preferably of stone, be on the line.

Main spokesmen for the residents during the hearing were Edward D. Morton, of 4634 Kendra Way; Peter Butterworth, 3634 Kendra Way and Bob Marraccino, 3658 Mona Way.

Clock Tower?

Council endorsement for a community-wide fund-raising drive to construct the clock tower at the new city hall will be sought at the City Council meeting next Monday, January 11.

The tower, which is estimated to cost $5000 was eliminated by the City Council in the interest of economy.

The Chamber of Commerce is spearheading the tower drive and Bob Telleson, CofC director, is scheduled to be spokesman at the Council meeting.

Bill Hedley, architect for the city hall, is also expected to be present with a sketch of the proposed tower.

Editorial

Overall objectives

According to many experts, a virtual building boom could take place in Campbell during 1971.

These experts claim that many of the "developments" that have existed for some time only on the drafting boards will materialize into reality during the next 12 months.

They maintain that the financial hang-up which apparently has acted as a road-block for any new building activity in Campbell for the past several years is expected to ease somewhat during 1971 and thus will accelerate construction action in the area.

Conceding the experts are correct in their projections for 1971, it then behooves the officialdom of Campbell to be prepared for renewed construction activity within the city limits.

We think that it is extremely important that definite guildelines, which are understood by all concerned should be established by the City of Campbell.

We realize that a general plan for the City of Campbell is now in existence.

The plan, which was adopted after months of study and after many public hearings, divides the city into specific areas, showing the current land use as well as what is recommended as the future use for the various sectors of the city.

Although the general plan is relatively new, many changes have already been made since its adoption, and obviously, more modifications must be expected in the future.

There is nothing wrong in making changes in the general plan.

The plan was only meant to be a guideline and it is not an untouchable document.

Conditions do change and it follows that any general plan to be practical must also be somewhat flexible.

In the City of Campbell, the City Council and the Planning Commission are mainly responsible for following the general plan or modifying it as the situation warrants.

Although the Planning Commission is merely an advisory body to the City Council, it has an extremely important part to play in the functioning of the city government.

Therefore it is of paramount importance that both the Council and the Commission operate on the same wave length as far as the overall objectives of the city are concerned.

Unfortunately during recent months there has been a tendency on the part of some of the planning commissioners to become confused over what is the overall objective of the Planning Commission.

They have indicated by their actions that they are not satisfied with their advisory roles to the City Council.

Although appointed by the City Council, some of the planning commissioners by their recent actions have given the impression that they have the same responsibility as the city councilmen as far as the affairs of the city are concerned.

But there is only ONE legislative body for the City of Campbell.

There is only ONE body that is responsible for the functioning of the city.

That is the City Council.

An advisory commission must function as "advisors" and not as legislators, for legislating, from city to federal level, remains the sole responsibility of elective officials.

Because there has been this misplaced concept of authority and responsibility on the part of some of the members of the Planning Commission, the Planning Commission has divided into two opposing camps.

Because of this difference in concept among the members, the Planning Commission has lost its effectiveness.

It is our opinion that this gap between the two factions will continue to widen unless drastic steps are taken to eradicate it.

This rift between the two groups on the Planning Commission is bound to do a disservice to the community as a whole.

We think that the seven members of the Planning Commission must now analyze the situation and determine just what really is their function as planning commissioners and then derive whether they are performing their duties for the best interest of the city.

We maintain that those who feel that their philosophy is diametrically opposed to that of the City Council should not continue to serve as planning commissioners.

If 1971 is to be the boom year as the experts maintain, there will be many issues that will come before the Planning Commission that will be of vital importance to the city as a whole.

We do not think the City of Campbell can afford to have a Planning Commission so badly divided that it will not be able to function properly.

MORE ABOUT

Here are a few, for example, that are pretty sure bets for 1971 and you can try them on for size:

In 1971, Campbell's new city hall will be completed and occupied.

And, we predict, that some minor bugs will be discovered in the structure which will not be foreseen until the wheels of the city government start spinning in their new quarters.

There will be two brand-new banks opened in Campbell during 1971, making a total of seven such financial institutions within the city limits.

That's a safe prediction, by the way, inasmuch as one of the new banks (Hibernia in Kirkwood Plaza) opened this week and construction is well under way for the Crocker-Citizens job in the PruneYard center.

YOU KNOW WHEN ONE stops to reflect about this bank thing in town, some interesting conjectures can develop.

Does it mean that there is so much money in Campbell that it takes seven banks to take care of the $$$?.

Of course, that is a field with which we are not too familiar---Dollars, we mean. We never seem to have enough of them.

But we can't help wondering (and hoping) that the top powers-that-be who run the money joints know something that we don't know about our community.

So we had better stick around.

It might rub off on us.

We can hope, can't we?

ANOTHER SAFE PREdiction for 1971 is that "PruneYard Center", with the lofty "Towers" in the background, will become an outstanding attraction for both shoppers and browsers from all over the Valley.

Only partially completed during 1970, the "PruneYard" has already made a tremendous impact, and during 1971 it should be completed in its entirety.

We think it is safe to predict that the "PruneYard" will prove to be one of our community's greatest assets.

A COUPLE OF NEWS REleases from the California Highway Patrol attracted our attention recently.

One of the releases had the intriguing title; "lap belts and pregnant women" and the other was labeled, "stalled on freeway".

We read them both.

Although the copy about pregnant women and lap belts concerns a field in which we don't expect to get involved, we did learn that the use of lap belt restraints by pregnant travelers in automobiles has been recommended by researchers of the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine.

The study was based on CHP reports involving 441 pregnant victims of automobile accidents. The conclusion was that lap belt restraint acts primarily to prevent ejections and prevention of ejection significantly lowered the death rate for both mother and the unborn child.

THE NEWS RELEASE ON "stalled on freeway" started out..."To avoid trouble while stalled at roadside at night, motorists should plan ahead..."

We thought this was particularly good advice and it struck home.

Whenever we have been stalled, it has been a frustrating experience and we have never been prepared for it.

The CHP listed five points, including getting the vehicle to a safe position; use your flashing lights; if you are alone, stay in your car with your doors locked and windows closed; do not get into a stranger's vehicle; and when a CHP officer comes by confer with him about available solutions to your problem.

The CHP advises also that anyone on the road should have adequate cash or credit cards to deal with emergencies.

It all sounds logical.

Let's see if we will be prepared the next time we are stalled.

Wanta bet?

Council awards carpet contract for city hall

Contracts for carpets and drapes and the public address system for the new city hall totalling $28,485.29 have been authorized by the City Council based on bids submitted.

The contract for the public address system was awarded to M. C. Facit Co., of 210 San Jose Ave., San Jose, based on a low bid submitted of $3,069. Three bids were received. The low bid was $1693 below the second and $2144 under the third.

Campbell Office Machines was the successful bidder for both the carpets and drapes for the new city hall.

The low bid for the carpets came to $21,169.97 and the bid for the drapes was $4246.32.

There were 12 bids submitted for the carpets ranging to a high of $26,130.70. The second lowest was $21,900.

There were 11 bids for the carpets ranging to a high of $5,776.70. The second lowest bid was $4,548.31.

Jeff Whitaker, city finance director, who was responsible for the drafting of the specifications and the calling for the bids on the carpets and drapes said that both bids were below the amount that had been budgeted.

Whitaker said that the carpet bid was $6,830 below the budget figure and the drapery was $3253 or a total saving of $10,083.79.

developers was Merton Yolles.

By deferring action for two weeks, the planning commissioners indicated that it might be possible for the developer and residents to get together and work out some of the problems before the next session.

The Commission also continued action for two weeks on the application of M. H. Podell Co. for a proposed residential-commercial development in the same general area.

The Commission approved plans for 87 four-plexes for McKeon Construction Co. on the former Gomes Ranch and also plans for a 36-unit apartment complex for Byrnes and Errico at 52 Michael Dr.

Approved also were plans for a warehouse to be located at 81 and 89 Dillon Ave. submitted by Santos Aparicio. A use permit for remodeling of the Sno-White Drive In at 116 E. Campbell Ave. was also approved.

Third screen wins approval

By a 4-1 vote, the City Council at the last meeting of the old year (Dec. 28) approved a use permit that would allow a third screen for the Winchester Drive-In Theater and thus for all practical purposes ended a year-long hassle.

The action by the Council was on the request of Syufy Enterprises that had been submitted in June but had been held in abeyance until after the referendum election on Dec. 8.

The referendum election had been called after enough registered voters had signed petitions protesting the rezoning of a six-acre parcel adjacent to the present two-screen theater. The rezoning was necessary before the third screen would be allowed.

At the Dec. 8 election, the voters upheld the Council's rezoning action thus paving the way for the approval of the use permit.

Voting for the use permit were Mayor Dean Chamberlin, Vice-Mayor Ralph Doetsch and Councilmen Bill Smeed and Bill Podgorsek. Councilman Ed Rogers cast the lone negative vote.

Lucky for the Raymond Lundquists, 2190 San Tomas Aquino Rd., that Clarence Smith, 2224 Wren Way, was driving past their house last Friday evening.

March of Dimes again selects Marty Min Mack

Martin (Marty) Mim Mack, 9, of Santa Clara, the youngster who was National Poster Child for the 1970 March of Dimes against birth defects, has again been named MoD Poster Child for this year - the first youngster to serve twice.

As his first duty, Marty rode on the City of Santa Clara float in the Rose Parade. Then he asked local residents to both support the March of Dimes fund-raising campaign this month (January) and to take advantage of its educational program for laymen.

The Santa Clara County Chapter, National Foundation - March of Dimes, has mailed residents order forms for five educational brochures and envelopes in which they may send contributions.

For those who have misplaced their envelopes, or who did not receive them, contributions may be sent to the March of Dimes, 1171 Lincoln Ave., San Jose, 95125. The community from which the contribution is mailed will receive credit in its MoD campaign.

However, the causes of many birth defects – like Marty Mim Mack's – are unknown. Major emphasis of The National Foundation - March of Dimes is a co-ordinated research program designed to discover causes and then develop preventive measures.

Marty was born without arms and with leg defects; although many defects are not that severe, there are a quarter of a million youngsters with major defects born in the United States each year.

It was because Marty made such a personable Poster Child that he was asked to serve a second year, according to Doug Duckham, county chairman for the 1971 MoD. He is a perfect example of a youngster who has been able to adjust to artificial arms and hands and a raised shoe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mim Mack and Marty's five older brothers traveled to Southern California to be with him at the Rose Parade. Later this month Marty, accompanied by his father, will tour the United States to appear as a symbol of the fight against birth defects.

Bringing up fido

By Sally Howe

A common practice among dog breeders is to "sell" a puppy on "breeder's terms."

This should mean that no money changes hands, because the breeder either really doesn't want to sell his pet or he is concerned about perpetuating a bloodline.

So, as the breeder, he offers the prospective buyer a contract in exchange for a puppy.

AGREEMENTS

There are many different kinds of arrangements regarding the sale of a dog. Most contracts revolve around females, but many times a breeder will reserve stud rights on a really top dog, or on one he suspects may develop into an exceptional specimen. Since using a dog at stud should not affect his owner, I feel that granting stud rights should be a fairly simple matter.

The dog in question has perhaps been sold for slightly less than his original asking price and the agreement for use of him at stud (often for a specified number of times) should also include a statement that the new owner does not have to handle any breeding nor be responsible for the transporting of any dog.

WHAT'S FAIR

I have seen people fall into the hands of unscrupulous breeders in their greed to become the owner of a certain puppy.

I am shocked when I hear statements that the "breeder gets the first two litters and then I get to keep her."

Before entering into any agreements, stop and think what all the terms mean. I don't even think it's right that a breeder take a whole litter, unless it includes:

1) That the breeder whelp the bitch, 2) raise the puppies and 3) pay ALL costs. Even so, the breeder should make the owner agree to skip one season before breeding again.

WHAT PROFIT?

A friend of mine was very upset because she took a dog on such terms. The difference was, she had raised the puppies (by choice) and she was just sure the breeder would give her one of the three babies.

When they didn't, she was hurt. I pointed out 1) they'd given her a dog, 2) they paid all fees, supplied food, 3) were going to incur some costs in selling puppies.

And actually, if one puppy was to replace the original; the second to pay the stud fee; by the time they sold the third and took out food costs, vet bills, and advertising – what had they made?

Exactly zero!

CHECK

Do be careful of agreements, though. If you raise a litter of Great Danes, you've earned a puppy, that's for sure!

Ask around before you tangle yourself up in agreements which allow the breeder too many puppies for too little.

A legitimate breeder isn't looking for puppies to sell, he's looking for ways to improve his breed. Any time the dogs become financially important to him, he's lost his whole perspective of what a hobby is all about!

Eastfield's Karl Marshall leaves for Canadian post

KARL MARSHALL

Friends of Karl Marshall, executive director of Eastfield Children's Center and former president of Campbell Kiwanis Club, are invited to attend a farewell dinner party being given by the board of directors of Eastfield on Jan. 9 at San Jose Country Club, at 8 p.m.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Irving Normandin, 257-8493; Mrs. William Dok, 377-6761; or Mrs. Gerald Schmidt, 867-0299.

Marshall became Eastfield's director in May, 1956, twc years before it was moved from San Jose to the Campbell location at 251 Llewellyn.

The United Fund Agency was founded in 1867 as the Home of Benevolence, an orphanage for San Jose children. A 1955 study by the Child Welfare League of America recommended that it be turned from orphanage into an agency to serve emotionally disturbed children and it was to implement this recommendation that it was moved from a large institution-type building in San Jose to Campbell.

Now on the grounds at 251 Llewellyn are residential cottage, office and school buildings.

Not only are the youngsters who live in the cottages treated, but there is a program for out patients, for youngsters who spend their days at Eastfield, and for children in foster and group homes. Currently being developed is a satellite program that, through use of Federal funds, will allow Eastfield services to be taken to other parts of the county.

Marshall leaves Eastfield Jan. 15 to become director of Warrendale, a residential treatment center for disturbed children in Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

While in the Campbell area, Marshall has been active in community affairs. In addition to his Kiwanis membership, he is an honorary life member of the Hamilton School PTA. He was also the first president of the California Childrens Institutional Executives' Association and for the past 10 years has been an assistant professor in the sociology department at San Jose State College.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS

by Kevin Clancey

The Campbell 4-H held their annual Christmas party on Dec. 19. Games were played and gifts were given out by Santa Claus. Prior to the party the Campbell 4-H'rs went carolling to three of the area's rest homes.

Blumenthal is hospital head

A Saratoga general practitioner has been elected chief of staff of Community Hospital of Los Gatos-Saratoga for 1971.

Dr. Philip L. Blumenthal, who has practiced in West San Jose for the last 10 years, succeeded Los Gatos internist Dr. F. Gilbert Gregory as head of the 200-bed hospital's medical staff on Jan. 1.

Other new officers for 1971 are Dr. Allen Riggle of Saratoga, vice-president; Dr. Herbert Kain, Los Gatos, secretary, and Dr. Jack Silveira, San Jose, treasurer.

Dr. Charles Bass of Los Gatos was elected to a two-year term as member-at-large of the executive committee, joining Dr. Ivan Neubauer, San Jose, who is serving the second year of his two-year term.

Serving two-year terms on the credentials committee will be Dr. Patrick Riley, Campbell, and Dr. Gene Levitz, San Jose. Holdover members are Dr. Joseph Johnson and Dr. Peter Jackson, both of San Jose.

Healy directs musical "Survey" at Cabrini Theater

The San Jose Children's Theater, in co-operation with Stanford University's Innovative Research Program will present a "Survey of American Musical Theater" this weekend at the St. Frances Cabrini Hall on Camden Ave. at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon. A donation of $1 is requested, as this is a fund-raiser for the spring and summer programs of the San Jose Children's Musical Theater.

The "Survey" is part of a research project by Stanford sophomore John P. Healy, Jr., who is the author and director of the show. For his work, Healy will be given course-credit toward a Musical-Theater degree, which he must form himself through the Innovative Research Center at Stanford.

Assisting Healy are assistant directors Robbi Thornburg of Camden High and Mark Healy from Leigh High Schools. Richard Dolen of Los Gatos High serves as stage manager, with Bill Powell of Leigh High serving as technical director. These are all local high school students who have received their training and gained practical experience through the San Jose Children's Musical Theater.

The Survey will cover the hit shows and advancements in style of American Musical Theater from the "Black Crook" of 1866 up to the present time. The narration will be delivered by director Healy, with production numbers demonstrated by the 60 member chorus of the San Jose Children's Musical Theater, and solo singing styles demonstrated by two professional singers, Jeffrey Wayne, of the San Jose Music Theater, and Richard Crosely, of the West Valley Light Opera Company.

These gentlemen have volunteered their time to demonstrate the songs of the Comic Opera, Operetta, and Musical Play periods of the Survey.

Among the shows represented in Part I, which runs this weekend, are: Student Prince, Rose Marie, Chocolate Soldier, Naughty Marietta, George M. Cohan Songs, Anything Goes, Of Thee I Sing and many others.

The Survey is divided into two Parts, Part I takes the years 1866-1940, and Part II covers from 1940 to the present.

All groups, school classes and clubs, scout troops, and theater parties are welcome to come and enjoy this entertaining show. For groups or single reservations, call 371-0232, 371-0491, 377-9825, or tickets are available at the Music Village at Union and Foxworthy Aves. and at the door.

More Modern the Car, the More Care Needed

Importance of Service Will Grow As Manufacturers Produce More Sophisticated Automobiles

By DOUGLAS W. TOMS
Director, National Highway Safety Bureau

Not long ago we heard a prediction that the next few years would find the U.S. auto industry building cars that will be totally garage-proof — serving out their useful life from assembly line to junk heap without need for servicing.

The prediction made no mention of "Car-Care" — that essential responsibility of the owner, spelling the difference between risk of life and investment and the security of both during the life of the vehicle.

Most of us remember when a good garage mechanic could tell by the sound and feel — by the seat of his pants as the saying goes — what ailed the family car. Matter of fact, most of us kids could take down an engine and do our own valve and ring job if we had to.

But it isn't true any more. Few would try it on a modern automobile. Few of us would relish the job of stripping air-conditioning, power-assist systems and a dozen other modern extras — let alone try our do-it-yourself skills on those temperamental "horses" under the block.

Yet Car-Care — even if it's passed beyond the average owner's home grown skills — is more important than ever. And predictions notwithstanding, it's going to be more and more important as the automobile takes on a degree of sophistication far beyond today's level.

Maximum Power Response

In the first place, many experts question what kind of power plant will be doing the job in "tomorrow's" autos.

Whatever it is, we know that future energy conversions will answer to a series of computers; insuring fuel consumption without pollution to atmosphere, without waste, and with maximum response in power and maneuverability.

We are looking at drawing board ideas and devices nearing production status which will need — for proper servicing and tune-up — advanced and specialized equipment.

The future probably holds some form of radar brake control, guided highway lanes and a whole family of integrated, automatic safety devices.

The goal will be maximum crash-avoidance and maximum crash-survivability; and not the least of the ideas under serious consideration are devices capable of "sniffing" or screening out the irresponsible driver — the drunk or the addict — who becomes a killer, behind the wheel.

Douglas W. Toms

Both Kinds of Cars

So vital will the role of professional Car-Care become, many experts believe, that the auto showrooms of tomorrow will feature both kinds of autos — the sophisticated "automatics" on one side, and the do-it-your-self-er's line on the other.

But no matter which you buy you will drive in a world, and at speeds, demanding better Car-Care — more of it and more often — to insure the safety and satisfaction tomorrow's driver not only ought to have, but will be required to guarantee for others on the highway.

TIME AND TIME AGAIN

In 10,000 miles of driving, the following happens in your car's engine. Is there any wonder maintenance is vital?

	Typical 8 Cylinder
Spark Plugs Fire	15,000,000 times
Points Open and Close	120,000,000 times
Coil Delivers	120,000,000 jolts
Each Spark Plug Cable Delivers a Total of . . .	225,000,000,000 volts
Carburetor Mixes . . .	2,880,000,000 cu. ft. of air with 666 gallons of gas
Distributor Shaft and Rotor Turn	15 million rpm
Fuel Pump Pulses . . .	15 million times
Each Valve Opens and Closes	15 million times
Speedometer Cable Rotates	10 million times

FROM THE CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY PATROL

SPECIAL CHANGES

The California Highway Patrol this week called attention to several changes in the Vehicle Code soon to become effective affecting special vehicles.

Motor vehicles weighing less than 1500 pounds, which previously have not been required to have fenders, are losing that exemption with regard to vehicles manufactured and first registered after Jan. 1, 1971.

As a result, dune buggies and other specially built cars constructed after the end of 1970 must have fenders, covers or devices as wide as the tire tread if they are to be used on public streets and highways.

The new amendment also makes clear that it is unlawful to operate any vehicle required to have fenders in which the fenders are not as wide as the tires.

In order to protect motorcyclists temporarily stopped, motorcycles registered and manufactured after Jan. 1, 1971, must be equipped so all taillamps, when turned on, will remain lighted automatically for at least one-quarter hour if the engine stops.

The California Highway Patrol will adopt regulations establishing specifications and standards for safety helmets for use by motorcycle operators and passengers; sale of unapproved helmets is prohibited six months after the effective date of the regulations. However, the law does not mandate the wearing of safety helmets.

Operational noise limits for motorcycles were decreased, effective November 23, from 88 decibels to 82 decibels in speed zones of 35 miles per hour or less, and from 90 decibels to 86 decibels in higher speed zones.

The same amendment decreases the operating noise limits for passenger cars from 82 to 76 decibels in speed zones under 35 miles per hour and from 86 to 82 decibels in higher speed zones.

The 30 mile per hour speed limit for over-width implements of husbandry moved or transported as a load on another vehicle was repealed.

LITTER LAWS

A fire prevention law was transformed into a litter law by the 1970 California Legislature.

The Vehicle Code section which prohibits throwing a lighted cigarette, cigar, match or other flaming or glowing substance on the highway has been applicable only outside of business or residence districts.

After November 23, the effective date of the amendment, the law was extended to all highways and will apply to non-lighted cigarettes, cigars, matches, and so forth, as well as lighted ones.

Penalties for littering have been expanded, too. Henceforth, abstracts of convictions for all litter violations, whether under the Vehicle Code, Penal Code or Health and Safety Code, will be forwarded to the Department of Motor Vehicles to become a permanent part of the record, and a second or subsequent conviction for any of these violations will require a court appearance unless the judge finds that an undue hardship will be imposed.

Minimum penalties are stipulated in the amendments, too, to add new weight to the prohibitions. Ten dollars is the minimum fine for the first offense, $25 for the second offense, and $50 for the third. Additionally, the judge may require the violator to spend not less than four hours on a second conviction and not less than eight hours on subsequent convictions picking up litter at a time and place specified by the court.

Daytime Car Lights for Drivers

Fall and winter driving means increased hours of darkness. Obviously, your car's lights will be getting more use. But do you use your lights as much as you should?

According to professional drivers, use of headlights has an effect on safety. Checker Cab Company in Chicago conducted a 12-month experiment where drivers put on their headlamps during the day as well as at night.

The result was a 10 percent decrease in accidents. Bodily injury accidents were reduced 12 percent.

Why the decrease?

According to Checker, "First, by physically turning on and shutting off the headlights, the driver is reminded he is doing something for safety.

"Second, pedestrians and other drivers are constantly telling our men that their lights are on and this serves as a further reminder of safety to the driver. Also, when Checker drivers see other Checker cabs with their headlights on, they think of safety."

Other reasons offered for increased use of headlights:

Millions of Motorists Using Credit Card Convenience to Pay for Service

The popularity of using oil company credit cards to charge for car maintenance is increasing, according to the Car Care Subcommittee of the American Petroleum Institute.

Many factors indicate that today's motorist is aware of automotive safety, and is concerned about the safety and performance of his own car. More than ever before he's purchasing tires, batteries, and maintenance services when needed, using his credit card instead of cash.

Dr. Paul Nadler of New York University has estimated that there are today over 100 million oil company credit cards in use compared with 70 million outstanding just four years ago. Over 213,000 stations now honor credit cards.

In a national study of gasoline credit card usage, just completed by Time Magazine, the following facts were revealed:

When asked, "What items have you used your credit card for?" . . .

- 51% indicated tire purchases
- 39% indicated battery purchases
- 36% indicated tune-ups, and
- 45% indicated repairs

In the same study, 20% of the credit card holders — 1 out of 5 — said that they valued their particular credit card because "the station has good mechanics and facilities for repair."

Nearly all oil companies now allow dealers to charge for installation of products carried in their stations. Many of the companies permit charging of the service work as well as the needed replacement parts. Only a few years ago, oil company credit cards were primarily used for gasoline and lubrication purchase.

Pollution Teach-In

A drastic reduction in motor vehicle emissions — by as much as 55 per cent on the average — may be achieved, if only car owners tune up their vehicles for low emissions.

That is one of the major findings reported by a group of University of Michigan engineering students who conducted an emission tune-up clinic during the Environmental Teach-In here last spring.

More than 85 per cent of the cars. the students said, showed a decrease in hydrocarbon emissions following a tune-up (spark plugs, points, ignition timing and carburetor adjustments). The carbon monoxide and unburned hydrocarbon emissions were reduced by an average of 55 percent at idle, the U-M students reported. A car, at idle, releases the greatest concentration of emissions.

"Some cars came in with seven to ten per cent carbon monoxide in the exhaust and left with a fraction of a per cent. Some had unburned hydrocarbon concentrations of 3,000 parts per million which were reduced to several hundred parts," the students said.

"The data indicate that pre-1968 cars have much higher average hydrocarbon emissions than post-1968 cars showing the same mileage."

These and other data have led the U-M students to observe: "Could it be possible that some of the same people who have been blaming the engineer for an ecological imbalance have allowed their automobiles to degenerate by neglect — and have allowed excessive quantities of pollutants to be released into the atmosphere?"

One thing is certain, the students said: "It should be emphasized that it is the owner's responsibility to maintain an automobile, not only for his own interests, but also for the well-being of the community."

Weathered Mendocino buildings recall early-day New England

An island in time is anchored along the Mendocino coastline, sometimes covered in fog, sometimes bathed in sunshine and always surrounded by a panorama of surf, rocky shoreline and wild flowers.

This is Mendocino, where weathered buildings reminiscent of early-day New England and the wooden sidewalks lure you out of your car and into the past. Buildings that belong to another era stand prominently along the sea cliff above Mendocino Bay—the spired Presbyterian Church and the bright yellow Mendocino Hotel.

Mendocino was established as a logging community in the 1850's, reports the California State Automobile Association. It was built by New Englanders who had failed in the gold fields. During the years of its growth it took on its unique appearance as the salt box cottages, enclosed water towers and other interesting structures were built by the seamen and lumbermen who lived here. Atop the Masonic Hall is a wooden statue carved from a single redwood log depicting a maiden shadowed by Father Time.

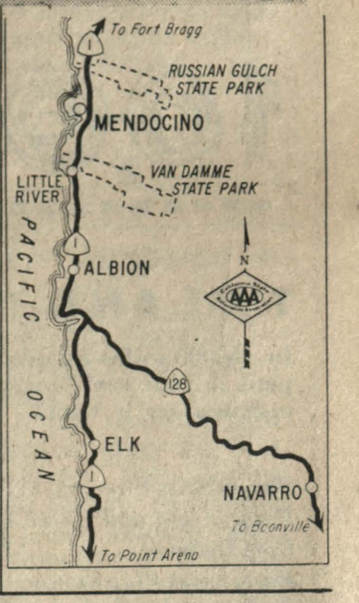
After the turn of the century the lumbering petered out and Mendocino became an almost forgotten community for 50 years. Part of the reason for its re-birth was the attention it received when two movies were made here. James Dean wandered up and down the dirt streets and sidewalks during the filming of "East of Eden" and the town was used to depict a New England fishing village in "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming."

The revival of Mendocino began in the 1950's when artists and craftsmen began to arrive and set up galleries and shops. Today, there are some 20 of these located throughout the town where prints and pottery, oils, watercolors, and hand crafted items can be bought.

After touring the galleries and photographing the old buildings of Mendocino, you may want to explore the surrounding countryside.

You can drive through rolling green moors that fall away to rugged sea cliffs west of town. This area is a free public fishing access. There are hiking trails and beaches to explore at Russian Gulch just north of town and Van Damme state park in Little River. Skin divers are attracted to several bays in search of abalone.

South of Mendocino is Point Arena Lighthouse and picnicking is a memorable experience at Manchester State Beach, where sand dunes shelter you from ocean winds.



Smoke Watchers invite community to lecture

Smoke Watchers of San Jose, which offers a "group dynamics" program to help smokers break the cigarette habit, held a free introductory lecture on Tuesday, Jan. 5, at the Congregational Church of Campbell.

Smoke Watchers of San Jose is licensed by Smoke Watchers International, a fast growing organization operating from coast to coast. "At the free lecture," says Greta Sturm, director of the local organization, "we will show smokers into non-smokers easily and forever.

"The techniques we use," she adds, "are based on three factors: (1) Group dynamics, in which each member helps others, (2) Members are taught to understand their habit—WHY they smoke, and (3) Members are shown HOW to unlearn their habit, over a period of time."

Mrs. Sturm will conduct the lecture and will answer questions about the group's methods. "Most people have a basic question right off the bat," says the director. "Does it work? Of course it works. Our program is based on 14 years of intensive institutional research costing millions of dollars."

The organization states that there are more than 70 million people in the U.S. who smoke, and at least half think they should give up the habit.

"The problem," she continued, "is that most people do not know how to quit. They feel they will grow nervous, or put on weight, or have other ill effects...often they try to quit smoking all at once—'cold turkey' as it is called. But American Cancer Society statistics show that five out of every six people who try to stop smoking by themselves soon take up the habit again."

On the other hand, she points out that Smoke Watchers shows the smoker how to stop, the easy way, and stay stopped—without any adverse effects. They become true non-smokers...forever.

Persons interested in joining the success of Smoke Watchers members who have stopped smoking are invited to contact Mrs. Sturm at 379-7228.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

Women's lib has hit the Northern California Darts Assn. Not only did three of the gals qualify for the finals of the doubles tournament but the NCDA has now scheduled a Women Only Singles Tournament to be held at the Lord Nelson, San Francisco, Sunday, Jan. 31 at 2 p.m.

Let's take a look at what some of these gals have done. Vickie Davis with partner Red Munn of Lord Nelson III got to the second round of the finals before being eliminated. In the preliminaries Vickie had a 96 out in two darts.

Also in the preliminaries Pat Orechwa of the Steppenwolf, 2136 San Pablo Ave., Berkeley, shot a 120 in two darts and also shot three tons (100's).

Pat Jansson of the Swinging Door I, 106 E. 25th Ave., San Mateo, had a 112 away and a 105. Neither of these gals qualified. This same Pat Jansson shot a 140 in the singles preliminaries.

And what about that game Nov. 4, when Janice Price of the Gay 90's II, (Pleasant Hill), shot a 98 away in a 16 dart game whitewash of her male opponent.

This should also give us an idea of what to expect when the Mixed Doubles Finals are played at the Gaslighter Theater on February 7. The preliminaries for the Mixed Doubles will be next Wednesday (Jan. 13) night at the Gaslighter Theater, 400 E. Campbell Ave.

DOUBLES TOURNAMENT

The South Bay League didn't fair too well in the recent doubles tournament. The best showing was made by Des Maples and Roy Haslam of Banbury Clock I, who made it to the quarter finals before being defeated by John Poole and Pete Peters of Blind Lemon I, Berkeley.

Poole and Peters were then defeated by Tony Chavarria and Don Halter of the Courtyard II prosecutors, Hayward. Tony and Don then played the brother act of Rich and Gary Curtaz of the Bull and Bush III, San Francisco, for the championship.

Playing the best two out of three 501 games for the title, each team won a game in 28 darts. In the final game Don left Tony with a 32 out when Gary Curtaz stepped to the line with a 14 out. Throwing for the double 7, the dart went inside for a single 7. Gary then shot a 3, leaving 4 or the double duce. The third dart was dead center for the win. 27 darts this time.

Rich Curtaz shot a 140 and three tons (100's) during the afternoon. On one Wednesday night last month the brothers had two 140's, a 98 away, an 80 away and eight tons between them. Quite a potent combination.

ALL-STAR TEAM

The All-Star Team is composed of the first three doubles teams and the first four finishers in the singles tournament with the alternates selected by the order of finish in the singles. With singles champ Tony Chavarria and third place finisher Gary Curtaz heading the first two doubles teams, the first two alternates from the singles move onto the All-Star Team.

The South Bay League is represented by Don Rhodes of Lancashire Lad I and Jim Macredes of Gaslighter Theater I. Others on the team are: Don Ledbetter and George Adle, Halfway Club; Ron Rutherford, Swinging Door III; Stan Brassey, Mayflower Inn I; first alternate Pete Peters, Blind Lemon I; second alternate Ron Patnaude, Mayflower Inn III.

The 12 man team will fly to Los Angeles to do battle with the Southern California All-Stars on February 14.

VIKES HOST SOLANO

Even though the West Valley Viking basketball team holds an 11-3 season record and won their first Camino Norte Conference encounter last Saturday night, they are now forced into a "must win" situation as they host Solano Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Campbell High.

The Vikings, who must play without top scorer and rebounder Joe Gallagher for the second half of the CNC season, must pour it on now to build up their total number of wins while still at full strength.

WVC, a conference powerhouse for the 1970-71 season, takes on Solano and Canada (Saturday at 8 p.m. in Redwood City), two of the weaker teams in the CNC, before entertaining league favorite Contra Costa a week from Wednesday at Campbell High.

Gallagher, who becomes ineligible at the end of the current semester, led the strong Vikings to victory over the Santa Rosa last Saturday as he dumped 27 points in the 83-79 win. The 6'4" 185 pounder put through nine field goals and nine charity tosses to nab game honors.

Doug Oliver, 19 points, and Butch Romano, 12, supported the Valley center as each hit double figures. Oliver also hit nine shots from the free line.

A 98-89 overtime win over Sacramento City College last Monday gave West Valley a shot at their second tournament championship of 1970-71. But a strong Contra Costa five downed WVC 97-85 in the second round and went on to unseat three time tourney titlists and host San Joaquin Delta in the championship game 88-86.

Gallagher took all-tourney honors as he tanked 73 points over the three game span. He sparked Valley to a third place finish as he hit for a personal tournament high 31 in the 57-56 win over the City College of San Francisco at the annual San Joaquin Delta Tournament.

LOOMIS, MAYFIELD ALL-BAY PICKS

Scott Loomis, tabbed a junior college all-American for his 1970 football efforts at West Valley College, took yet another honor as he was selected as a wide receiver on the all-Bay Area Junior College Football team. Teammate Grant Mayfield was named to the first defense as a linebacker.
